JAMES R. EINWAECHTER, P. E.

Mr. James R. Einwaechter is the Executive Director, Headquarters Air Force Civil Engineer Support Agency, Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida. The agency provides tools, practices and professional support to maximize Air Force civil engineer capabilities in base and contingency operations. The agency supports all 82 major and 10 minor active duty installations, plus the 83 Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard installations.

Mr. Einwaechter is a career engineer who has served the Air Force civil engineer community since 1972, both as a commissioned officer and civil servant. After receiving a degree in mechanical engineering, he earned a commission through the ROTC program at Texas A&M University in 1971. He spent 20 years on active duty before entering civil service in 1992.

He has held leadership positions with four base-level civil engineer units, including deputy base civil engineer at Lajes Field, Azores, Portugal and deputy, 18th Civil Engineer Group, Kadena Air Base, Okinawa, Japan. Additionally, Mr. Einwaechter has held diverse leadership positions on the Headquarters Air Training Command, United States Air Forces Europe, and Air Force Materiel Command (Provisional) civil engineer staffs. He also performed career-broadening duty with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, managing public works projects throughout the Great Lakes region. Prior to joining AFCESA in February 2001, he served as the military construction program manager with the Office of the Civil Engineer's Engineering Division, Headquarters United States Air Force.

Mr. Einwaechter is a registered professional engineer licensed in Ohio.
